

Crazy Owners, who has been out of the 1:6 scale picture for the past few months, has decided to jump back in the sandbox with their action figure interpretation of the character Nathan Algren (portrayed by Tom Cruise) in the 2003 film The Last Samurai.

He is clad in his Japanese garb, the Kimono, underneath it the Juban Kimono, the Hakama lower garment, Tabi boots, and Waraji sandals. He is armed with the Wakizashi short sword and the Katana main sword. For practice, he uses the wooden Bokotou sword.

I'll have to admit, the head sculpt for this set is a huge step up for Crazy Owners. I hope it is a sign of things to come from them.

We're pleased to announce the latest in Star Wars collectibles from MEDICOM TOY and ENTERBAY, the Ultimate Unison figure series! The 'UU' series combines the very best from Medicom's highly regarded RAH figure body with Enterbay's incredibly detailed sculpture quality.

The set features a detailed fabric costume and a variety of accessories, including a breathing mask, droid caller, a camouflaged greatcoat, and a hip slung DL-44 Heavy Blaster Pistol and holster. The Han Solo Ultimate Unison Collectible Figure is presented in approximately 1:6 scale and makes an outstanding addition to any Star Wars Collection!

If you're a big fan of Eminem or the rap scene in general, you might be interested in 1:6 scale newcomer Subway's action figure entry. Their Detroit 8 Mile Road figure set takes its inspiration from the rapper as he appeared in the film 8 Mile.

The set includes the figure, wool cap, gray hoodie, denim jacket, denim jeans, leather hiking boots (lace up), belt, underwear (yep, they're thorough), writing pen, Walkman-style radio with headphones, wireless hand mic, and show flyers.

I have to admit, the attention to detail on this set is pretty impressive — especially with the radio and headset.
