

Herolk Muscle Body
GIKP-02A
$37.99

Due to the success of Kaustic Plastik's Realistik Muscle Body, Fabio and his design team decided to come out with yet another muscular based figure, except this time, he was going to be BUFF! Keeping with the same concept as before, they tried to keep the joint exposure down to a minimum, so that if you had to use the figure with less clothing options (a la Conan the Barbarian or something of that nature) you had more realism in the figure's design. However, this go round, they decided to not include a sculpt so you could choose your own later on.

Hitfigure
Male Muscular Body
GIHF-FIG01
$35.99

Within the past 30 days, it seems we've been hit with a deluge of 1:6 scale muscular figures. First with Kaustic Plastik and their more athletically toned figure (plus their new figure above) and then ACI with their more muscular figures. Well two newcomers have entered the 1:6 scale ring with unique entries of their own.

Hitfigure's Male Muscular Body has a more Asian look to his facial features, but his body design is closer to that of Hot Toys' TrueType Muscular, but at a much cheaper price ($15 cheaper).

ETA: early January 2012

Muscular Body (Caucasian)
GICMT-HJ001
$63.99

Muscular Body (African-American)
GICMT-HJ003
$63.99

Muscular Body (Pale) not shown
GICMT-HJ002
$63.99

CM Toys went in the direction of Phicen Limited, creating a metal/plastic endoskeleton, then molding a rubber body around it, making it a "seamless" body style. However, with CM Toys, you can get the body in Caucasian, Pale, and African-American skin tones.

They too, opted not to include a sculpt, so you could purchase one on your own.

ETA (each): January 2012
